

Our assortment of Torsion Springs

DOCO International offers a broad selection of torsion springs for residential and industrial doors available from stock. To make sure you choose the right springs for your installation, you can use this overview which explains the different types of springs and their advantages:

Black Springs

- Our standard springs

Galvanized Springs

- Higher resistance to corrosion than black springs

Shot Blasted

- Easier assembly due to lighter springs
- Longer lifetime compared to equally sized black springs
- Overall less expensive solution
